

A white cat with black and orange patches is sitting on a surface, looking towards the right. The cat has a white face with black patches around its eyes and ears, and orange patches on its ears and neck. Its body is mostly white with large black patches on its back and side. In the background, there is a door with a window. The window has a sign that says "OPEN" in white letters on a blue background. The door is light-colored, and the wall behind it is also light-colored. There are some papers or notices posted on the wall to the right of the door.
